WORKING ENVIRONMENT AND CONTEXT

HOSTING STRUCTURE

PSL University is launching a call for applications for a Chaire Junior in " Environment and Legal Orders ". The activity will take place at Paris Dauphine – PSL at the research department in law of Paris Dauphine-PSL (CR2D).
This is a tenure track position with a reduced teaching load leading to a full professor position in four years.
The position may be taken up from November-September 2024 or at a mutually agreed later date.
Wholly committed to excellence in education, training and research, PSL is a global university, which aims to reflect, represent and influence society today and the world of the future in all its diversity. The university's collegial ethos is a major asset.

Made up of eleven component institutions, including Paris Dauphine-PSL, PSL ensures that dialogue takes place between all areas of knowledge, innovation and creativity in science, humanities, social sciences, arts and engineering. PSL offers an education led by the research carried out in its laboratories while encouraging discussion and mobility between disciplines and across schools. Our university exercises critical thinking and fosters creativity. Students are selected on the basis of their potential and talent. The university champions equal opportunities and promotes social, cultural and geographic diversity, and students are guaranteed individual mentoring, small class sizes and personalized academic pathways

The research department in law of Université Paris Dauphine-PSL (CR2D) is inviting applications for a Junior Professorship Chair (CPJ in French) on the theme of "Environment and Legal systems".

Université Paris Dauphine-PSL is a pioneer in addressing the challenges of ecological and social transition, and the impact of AI on our society. It is developing two major programs: Dauphine Durable on sustainable development and Dauphine Numérique on digital transition. Through its six research centers, Université Paris Dauphine-PSL is uniquely positioned to draw on the cross-disciplinary expertise of mathematics, computer science, economics, law, sociology, political science and management, to support and shed light on the profound changes taking place in our society.
Within this ecosystem, the research department in law of Dauphine (CR2D) develops research focused on the legal analysis of economic phenomenon, enriched by a multi-disciplinary approach and very regular exchanges with stakeholders, be they companies, legal advisers, courts, economic regulatory authorities and other interested experts.
More specifically, CR2D is actively involved in PSL's research drive on transition and global change. CR2D is already participating in the TERRAE major transdisciplinary program, and is developing two new lines of research, one entitled "Companies and transition risks", the other "Economic regulation and ecological transition", which are linked to Dauphine PSL's "Sustainable development" structuring program.

CR2D is also involved in the European Platform for Research in Energy and Climate Law, alongside the UMR Transitions Énergétiques et Environnementales (TREE - UMR 6031) and the Maison Française d'Oxford (MFO). The founding contract brings together CNRS, Université Paris Dauphine-PSL, Université de Pau et des Pays de l'Adour and Maison Française d'Oxford. The European Federation of Energy Law Associations (EFELA) is a privileged partner of the Platform.

Requirements to apply
Candidates must have held a doctorate for at least three years and have a research record including publications in fields relevant to the job profile and in top-ranking journals. Significant international experience is desirable.
